

Financial Analysis and Benchmarking of Global Transport & Logistics Sector Leaders

A brand new product from Transport Intelligence examining the financial structure and performance of the world's largest freight transport and logistics companies through a range of financial ratios.

Unique new financial research

As part of a unique new research project, Transport Intelligence's financial analysts have undertaken a detailed review of the financial accounts of the world's largest express and logistics companies.

The results shed light on the performance of the companies over the past year as well as their financial structure using a range of financial ratios. A total of 20 companies were reviewed and, where appropriate, ranked in order of performance.

Financial ratio analysis

Indicators and ratios used to assess the companies include:

- Revenues (gross and net)
- Personnel and Pay per Employee
- Revenue and Value add per Employee
- PBIT
- Assets
- Return on total assets and net assets
- Equity and return on equity
- Intangible assets/Total Assets
- Gearing
- Interest Cover
- Liquidity
- EBITDA and PBIT margin

The research examines in particular the performance of 'asset heavy' and 'asset lite' companies.

Segment level data

The analysis of company performance includes not only the examination of Enterprise level data but, where possible, drilling down to segment level, including:

- Contract Logistics
- Freight Forwarding
- Road Freight /Trucking
- Express

Which companies are covered?

Agility, CEVA, CH Robinson, Con-way, Deutsche Post-DHL, DSV, Expeditors, FedEx, Kuehne+Nagel, Logwin, Norbert Dentressangle, Panalpina, Ryder, TDG, TNT, Toll, UPS, UTi Worldwide, Wincanton, YRC Worldwide.

Customise the document to the company of your choice!

Transport Intelligence's financial analysts can customise the research to the company of your choice. This will highlight where the company is ranked in comparison with its competitors and provides additional commentary on its financial performance.
